Awards & Recognition

With her parents, Emily Carman (second from right), a Rocky River High School student and a Red Ribbon Health eXpressions winner, donated her prize money and donations matched by her parents and Mary Walborn, M.D., General Internal Medicine, the presenter who inspired Carman's art, to Children's Hospital. Her gift was accepted by Ellen Rome (right), M.D., MPH, Section Head Adolescent Medicine.

The Office of Civic Education Initiatives recognizes the following interns: Emily Holthaus, a 2006 science intern and Magnificat High School student, was among 10 of more than 700 applicants who were accepted to the Rochester Early Medical Scholars Program at the University of Rochester. Winners at the 2007 Northeast Ohio Science and Engineering Fair include former science and nursing interns: Tiffany Graves, Collinwood High School; Dani Fribourg, Lakewood High School; Lauren Woyma, Regina High School; Rachel Hubbard, Beaumont School; and Marc Kruzer, West Geauga High School. Kruzer also recently earned second place for “Methods for Detection of Plasmid-Mediated AmpC” at the West Geauga Science Fair.
