Addressing the Nurse Shortage

Huron School of Nursing Opens Branch Campus at South Pointe Hospital

At hospitals nationwide fewer nurses are caring for more patients. Today many hospitals are struggling with the impact of nurse shortages, which are due in part to an influx of retiring nurses and others who seek careers outside the hospital setting.

Today's Innovations, Tomorrow's Healthcare is a philanthropic campaign to raise $1.25 billion for Cleveland Clinic. Success will boost Cleveland Clinic's already exceptional patient care, research and educational programs. This campaign will benefit patients, redefine medicine and create new opportunities that have a direct and beneficial impact on the health and well-being of our local communities.

Campaign Goal

More than 10 decades ago a group of Catholic nuns founded a small faith-based community hospital to serve immigrants who settled within the southern borders of Cuyahoga County. Their original mission flourished, and Marymount Hospital, a Cleveland Clinic hospital, now serves more than 100,000 individuals annually with the latest technology and superior patient care.
