

ISAACSON J. Harry, MD

J. Harry (Bud) Isaacson, MD, FACP is Assistant Dean for Clinical Education and Associate Professor of Medicine at the Cleveland Clinic Lerner College of Medicine and Executive Director of Professional Staff Leadership Development at Cleveland Clinic. He received his medical degree from the University of Michigan Medical School in 1984 and completed his Internal Medicine Residency and Chief Residency at the University of Vermont in 1988. Dr. Isaacson joined the Department of General Internal Medicine at the Cleveland Clinic in 1993 and directed the Primary Care Track of the Cleveland Clinic Internal Medicine Residency from 1993-2002. Dr. Isaacson currently oversees all clinical training for CCLCM and co-directs courses on “Communication Skills” and “Foundations of Clinical Medicine”. As Executive Director of Professional Staff Leadership Development he coordinates leadership and professionalism activities at Cleveland Clinic. He is an active member of the Society of General Internal Medicine, American College of Physicians, Association for Medical Education and Research in Substance Abuse and the American Academy on Communication in Healthcare.